

Q: I have a pain in my back that won't go away. What can be done about it?

A: There are many ways to relieve back pain. Initially, rest may be needed but it will not correct the imbalance that caused the pain initially. Your practitioner will need to address the possible structural, nutritional, emotional and environmental causes of the pain you are experiencing. Doing this will eliminate the pain quickly and minimize future occurrences.